AN EDITORIAL

For the past two weeks Mokena citizens believe their fair village has been receiving some unjust and unkindly publicity in the columns of a weekly newspaper in our neighboring city of Joliet.

The first news article published May 8 quoted our village attorney, Harry L. Schenk as the source of the paper's information of one fact. We are sorry that Mr. Schenk, if it is true, gave such information. And who ever gave the information to the Joliet weekly paper, knows that other facts cited in that issue were untrue.

We have spoken to a number of those who attended the May meeting including several board members who stated the facts as published in The News-Bulletin May 8 and the Joliet Herald-News May 11 reporting the regular village board meeting for May 6 were true.

When that Joliet paper stated that Thomas Powers said he represented all Mokena taxpayers and that "several angered persons" rose to protest the statement, it is grossly untrue. Mr. Powers, when he addressed the board, stated he represented himself as a taxpayer. This has been verified by several board members and others at the meeting.

It is a terrible thing to undermine another's character, whether purposefully or unintentionally. The News-Bulletin has at all times, to the best of its ability, given the news truthfully and never has, nor never will resort to yellow journalism.

Since these articles appeared in this Joliet paper another member of the board, Robert Hohenstein has resigned. He was one of the new group which were elected a year ago.

HOMETOWN

My HOME town's without reason.

It's practically unheard of. It's never seen on stage or screen.

And written not a word of. Indeed its name's unknown to fame.

Or maps by Rand McNally. But in my heart its every part. Each street and lane and alley. Each tree and singing bird of Will stay enshrined, time out mind.

And I will sing aloud of this unknown place, this home space—

The home town that I'm proud of!

MOKENA MAN'S BROTHER SLAIN IN BUS AFFRAY

William James Powers, 52, a brother of Thomas Powers of Mokena, was one of four persons killed Wednesday in Cleveland, Ohio, when a passenger on a city bus seemingly went berserk. The tragedy occurred when Mr. Powers was returning to his home from Central square, after attending a conference in downtown Cleveland. When he was almost home a colored youth occupying the seat with him reached forward and touched a lighted cigarette to the hair of a young girl seated in front of him. Mr. Powers put the fire out but remained quietly in his seat.

About this time a passenger reported to the colored woman who was driving the bus that there was trouble toward the back of the bus. The driver then passed all stops until she reached a corner where a bus inspector was posted. She had him call a traffic policeman and while the passengers were gradually getting off, the policeman put his arms around the offender to hold him. The youth reached the officer's holster and got possession of his gun.

He shot the arresting policeman, then the woman bus driver and the passenger who had warned her of the trouble. He then fired a wild shot that struck Mr. Powers in the head killing him instantly. The youth testified at a hearing that he had not intended to shoot Mr. Powers.

The deceased had been practicing law in Chicago until two years ago when legal work took him to Grand Rapids and Detroit. For the past nine months he had been living in Cleveland. He was born in Hornell, N. Y. and later moved with the family to Sayre, Pa. He attended the University of Pennsylvania, graduating there in 1924. From there he went to the University of Chicago law school on a scholarship and attained his law degree.

He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Bruce Osborne, of Waverly, N. Y. and Miss Mary Powers, of Rochester, N. Y., his brother, Thomas of Mokena, and his stepmother. The funeral was held in the home of his sister in Waverly on Friday afternoon. Interment was in the family lot at Epiphany cemetery, at Sayre, Pa. with a military service conducted by the American Legion as he served in the Navy during World War I.

Mr. Thomas Powers returned home Saturday.

PREVIEW OF CATERPILLAR PLANT HELD LAST FRI. FOR THE PRESS

Open House This Week Thru Friday For Everyone; Most Modern Equipment Used

To the some 90 editors and radio news men who attended the preview open house last Friday at the Caterpillar Tractor company south of Joliet, a new world was opened to them.

This is the first time in the history of the industry, Henry Howard, director of sales, stated, this type of plant has been built.

On entering the plant each visitor is given safety glasses to wear during the tour of the 305 acres, under one roof. The 2 1/2 mile walk through this interesting plant did not seem as long as walking was made easy by the flooring made of wood blocks, 5x3 inches, chemically treated. It was estimated there were some 3,179,520 such blocks throughout the area.

Workmen are fitted with special safety shoes and every precaution is taken to make the work easy, safe and efficient. There is no heavy lifting, as the over six miles of tram and crane rails do that for the workmen, with a total lifting capacity of 1,371,500 pounds or 685 tons. There are 77 all-able control units; the air is constantly cleaned in the breathing zone of operators and as there can be no dust on the parts as they are made and assembled.

There is perpetual conveying on which separate parts or the completed whole is moved until it is able to move on its own power. Each part is tested as it moves along, and parts which do not pass the inspector's eye are corrected at once. The nearly completed caterpillar moves on a conveyor at a speed of 16 inches a minute. At the end, it goes to its next and last factory space on the floor close by, which proves to be a flat car. There it is anchored so it will not move in transit, and the railroad engine hooks on and it is on its way to its new owner.

There are two fire engines and equipment in the plant, but with such extreme caution for safety and fire proof, it is hard to imagine a fire could occur.

The tools are of the latest invention so as to save the backs of the workers and also more efficient work. Their motto is: "Better tools make better jobs."

To the representatives from this newspaper who attended this open house, some of those machines were wonderful, for instance, the steel cutter which uses 2500 tons pressure. There is another such machine of 2000 ton pressure. Seems like the word "machine" is not the correct word in speaking of these, as they are so large that they are really a complete outfit in themselves.

The entire area is lighted so well that you would not know you were under cover and, even though it was raining outside, with the total of 1,221,975 watts of light, it was as if we were in the sunshine. Indeed it was better than sunshine for some times that is hard on the eyes. There are from 30 to 32 foot candle light at eye level through out the plant.

Each employee works eight hours a shift with 20 minutes off for lunch. They can either carry their own lunch or buy it in a modern cafeteria which serves an excellent choice of food. Employees are paid for the 20 minutes lunch time. All on this tour were treated to dinner in the cafeteria, which was excellent.

Following the dinner, we continued on our tour of the plant and last were shown through the modern large office area to the auditorium. Here we were greeted by the plant officials who explained in an interesting manner the workings of their industry.

One reason Joliet was chosen was because of the natural solid rock foundation. The large equipment in the plant has its base going two feet into this foundation. Also the good waterway and railroad facilities were considered.

Henry Howard, director of sales for the Caterpillar Tractor company, said that this is the first time in the history of the industry that this type of plant has been built. It represents a new move in the production of the type of machinery being built by Caterpillar in Joliet. As yet they do not have a foundry in their Joliet plant, such parts come from their larger plant at Peoria.

W. L. Naumann, general manager explained how this plant was started in construction just a year ago and is today running full time, which is the result of a splendid team work, co-operation, enthusiasm and interest in the common goal of building this plant.

There remains much yet to do before the plant is entirely profitable. Workmen are urgently needed, and they now come not only from Joliet but from as far as 50 miles away. This industry means much to this area especially Joliet, where, Mr. Naumann said, that $1 million is spent there each month for wages. And these 3,668 employees in turn spend much money in Joliet.

Mr. Howard stated that "sales of heavy machinery continue strong in the world market despite a gradual shifting condition of the market itself, and from a long delivery situation to a shorter one."

The open house will continue through Friday from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. and everyone who can should avail themselves of this opportunity to see this plant which specializes in earth moving machinery.

An interesting movie was shown which climaxed a most pleasant day spent with friendly executives, who accompanied and explained all details to this visiting group.

L. Stege-A. Roemer Wed in Mokena

Miss Lorraine Stege, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Stege, of Matteson, and Alvin Roemer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Roemer, of 159th street and 88th avenue, Tinley Park, were united in marriage May 17, at 2:30 p.m. in the Immanuel Lutheran church of Mokena. The Rev. A. W. Gode read the double ring service at the altar banked with ferns and palms. The choir sang "O Perfect Love" and "Let Us Ever Walk With Jesus", to the organ accompaniment played by Kenneth Kramer.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She wore a gown of white slipper satin trimmed with lace, and made with a long train. The bodice finished with a sweetheart neckline was buttoned down the back. Her finger-tip veil was caught in a tiara trimmed with seed pearls. Her jewelry was a rose colored pendant necklace with matching earrings. She carried a lace handkerchief and a bouquet of white roses centered with an orchid and finished with streamers.

Mrs. Edward Abbe, sister of the bride, served as her matron of honor. Her orchid gown was made with a full skirt and tight bodice with jacket. Her bouquet of yellow carnations was tied with an orchid ribbon. The other attendants were Mrs. Erwin Manzke, dressed in yellow, with a colonial bouquet of yellow carnations and sweet peas tied with yellow ribbon, and Miss Evelyn DeBlake, dressed in blue. She carried a similar bouquet tied with blue ribbon. Miss Betty Lou Stege, a cousin of the bride, was styled like the matron of honor's and she carried a basket of petals, to strew in the bride's path. Leroy Stege, also a cousin of the bride, carried the ring on a heart-shaped cushion. The groom was attended by his best man, Paul Groskopf, Erwin Manzke and Raymond Meyer. Elmer Roemer and Erwin Stege were ushers.

Both mothers were dressed in royal blue and wore orchid corsages. Mrs. Bertha Stege, the bride's grandmother, also attended.

The wedding dinner for 80 guests was given in the VFW hall in Mokena. A reception held later was attended by 250. The guests were served the three tiered wedding cake from a table covered with a white linen cloth and lighted with white candles.

The couple will spend a few days motoring in the eastern states, and on their return will live in a garage apartment on the farm of his parents, where he is engaged in farming. She is employed at the National Tea Store, in Tinley Park.

Mounted Patrol Guards Prison Farm

The Illinois State Penitentiary at Stateville near Joliet employs all modern devices to prevent escape of inmates. Nevertheless, the horse is still essential in fulfilling the state's duty to keep criminals confined. The four mounted guards are: Dale M. Collins, Harold F. Fitzgerald, James E. Norton and Thomas O'Neil. They patrol the perimeter of Stateville's 1836 acre farm to prevent friends of the convicted men from "planting" liquor, sedatives, narcotics or weapons outside the farm fence.

SPRINGFIELD — All known devices of the modern day — automobiles, airplanes, automatic firearms and electronic devices — combine to provide maximum security at Stateville, the largest of the State of Illinois penitentiaries. However, included on this team protecting the citizens from convicted men is a remnant of the 19th century, the horse patrol.

Every day of the year, despite weather conditions, members of Warden Joseph E. Ragen's mounted patrol may be seen riding the perimeter of Stateville's 1836 acre farm just north of Joliet. The patrol, consisting of four mounted guards, was established ten years ago.

Prior to that time, some prisoners reported from the fields in a drunken or doped condition. The frequency of such situations mystified penitentiary officials until an investigation showed that friends of the inmates on the outside were placing liquor, sedatives, and in some cases narcotics and weapons outside the farm fences adjacent to state highways. It was not too difficult on visitors' days for friends of the inmates to arrange for trustees to pick up packages at a designated place and on a pre-arranged date. Under the influence of this contraband, prisoners became unruly and, on occasion, escaped or attempted to.

Since the horse patrol was established, escapes have been cut to a minimum. Although word has gotten around among the inmates that this method of supply is no longer reliable guards nevertheless still find articles intended for those inside the fence. In 1935 there were 30 escapes among the prisoners working on the farm. This has dwindled to one a year since that time with the last successful attempt being in August 1950. At present 749 men work on the Stateville farm.

In addition to contributing to the security at Stateville, the horse patrol makes it impossible for anyone to enter the premises with a gun. Should hunters succeed in crossing the farm fence, it would be possible for inmates to overpower them, take their guns and attempt an escape.

Early Leaf Eaters Curbed by DDT, Friendly Beetles

Don't stomp on the ground beetles. These insects which have to duck descending heels and broomstick handles are among the best friends of your trees. They make up a large family of beetles most of whom are worthwhile additions to your gardens. Among other pests they gulp cankerworms by the score.

F. R. Lancaster, technical adviser of the Davey Tree Expert Co., says ground beetles are nice to have around, but they are not a sure control against the early leaf eaters, such as the cankerworms, tent caterpillars or codling moths. So as soon as leaves begin to unfold, best bet is to get out the trusty spray gun, apply DDT or an effective stomach poison.

Unfortunately for the ground beetles and your trees, these beetles are more ominous looking than the destructive cankerworms, also known as the inch worm or looper. Ground beetles come in an assortment of colors, ranging from black to brown and blue-green. Black ones are commonest. They usually lurk under rocks. When hungry, they scurry up trees in search of their prey. They have ferocious looking jaws. Some secrete an offensive liquid used in defense.

The cankerworm, a common pest, is called a looper because it crawls by drawing up the middle of the body into an arch or loop. It has an uncanny ability to time its appearance with the breaking of the leaf buds. The larvae are voracious feeders, particularly liking the elm, oak, apple, linden, beech and many other fruit and ornamental trees.

Trees defoliated for two or three successive years will become weakened. That's because leaves are the food manufacturing "factories" of trees.

WASHINGTON AND

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

There is a strong movement in Washington to pass a Fair Trade law, to replace the one invalidated by the Supreme Court.

Chief opposition comes from the huge financial-merchandising organizations now trying to spread public confusion. Here is the background of the Fair Trade law movement.

First, bear in mind that cheap imported Japanese goods are never fair-traded. Actually, few products are ever fair-traded.

But if an American company makes a consistently superior electric mixer, for example, and invests thousands of dollars advertising, in time that product becomes the standard of value.

Naturally, imitations, even Japanese and other cheap foreign imitations, are put on the market to sell at whatever price the market will bear. Later, it has been State Dept. policy to encourage flooding the American market with cheap imports.

But the company making the superior item enters into price.

Nothing in these agreements makes it impossible for other brands to be sold at any price.

However, the big retail outlets opposing this law, such as giant Macy's, finds the public usually rejects cheap imitations for the standard brand.

So Macy's and the others want to sell the recognized quality brand at below cost, if necessary, to promote traffic to their store. They can lose heavily on the item making up losses on long profit items. But the small dealer is forced into bankruptcy.

Macy's and the others of this type could accomplish their purpose just as well by advertising a limited number of $20 gold pieces for $9.95.

But there is one big barrier to that idea.

The government would not allow anyone to so destroy the value of gold.

But some in government feel that it is proper for a giant merchandiser to destroy all value of a superior quality product.

The Socialistic schemers in Washington would like to see quality values destroyed in the American market so cheap foreign cartel goods could flood the market such as the shoddy goods sold in Moscow stores.

The most ridiculous opposition to a new Fair Trade law was voiced to Congress by Matt Trigg, spokesman for the American Farm Bureau Federation. He termed such a law "inconsistent with free economy," "an umbrella for the inefficient."

However, Trigg's organization has been most active in getting billions in tax dollars spent on price supports for grain, eggs, hogs, peanuts and other foods.

No tax money is involved in Fair Trade laws. Neither are prices pegged on a commodity; just on certain quality brands.

The fight for Fair Trade laws is a fight to keep the entire American market from being taken over by shoddy merchandise, and to protect independent merchants from vicious price wars.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

By DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: Exodus 20:13; Matthew 5:21-26; 18:1-6; 10:14; Mark 1:40-42; Luke 9:51-56; 12:4-7.

DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalm 8.

God and Life

Lesson for May 25, 1952

IF THERE IS any one commandment which Jesus not only did not abolish but made far clearer and sharper, it is the commandment, Thou shalt not kill.

By word and act, the Master showed that life is sacred. It is sacred because we are God's children; and whatever injures life, whatever makes it less worth living, whatever tempts men to do away with their own lives, whatever shortens life and makes it wretched and unbearable, this violates the will of God, this is a form of killing.

Jesus' attitude to disease is a case in point. We do not read of a single case where he came in contact with a sick person and urged the patient just to be patient. He always restored the sick to health; sickness in his eyes, is a thing that ought not to be.

Blunt Instruments

MURDER MYSTERIES are always solved in the detective stories. In real life we are not always so fortunate. Many a murder mystery remains a mystery after long years. All the police could ever be sure of was that "some person or persons unknown" hit the victim with a "blunt instrument."

Now you would think that a murderer would pick out something more efficient. Why not a sharp instrument? However, the blunt instrument, whatever it was—a sash-weight, a brick or whatever,—did the work. A man can be just as dead from being hit with a sandbag as from being shot with a rifle.

As Simeon Stylites pointed out some time ago in the "Christian Century," there are all kinds of blunt instruments besides crowbars, sash-weights and bricks. Whatever tends to shorten life is a kind of blunt instrument; it may take a long time to have its effect but if it is deadly in the long run, then it is deadly, period.

Any sort of habit that cuts down one's good health; any carelessness or neglect; any stupidity or foolishness such as driving too fast on a wet night; giving way to worries and getting indigestion from them; these are not unheeded ways of shortening life. They are, in plain language, murderous.

Alcohol the Killer

AS THIS IS the temperance lesson, this is a good place to recall the fact that alcoholic liquor is a too popular deadly weapon.

You have heard of the so-called antibodies or phagocytes which are in a healthy blood-stream. These are the little fighting cells which gather around invading germs and kill them. Without these in our blood we could scarcely survive a single day, the air is so full of germs which we cannot help taking into our throats and lungs.

But alcohol taken internally will paralyze these phagocytes to such an extent that they are no use. This is not to say that a single bottle or drink of liquor kills all a man's phagocytes at once.

But still, as David Starr Jordan, president of Leland Stanford University, once said, if a man were telling the whole truth he would not say, Let us have a drink together. He would say, Come, let us paralyze our phagocytes together!

Insurance companies which insure only ministers and religious workers, that is to say, which insure mostly non-drinkers, can and do offer insurance for much lower premiums than companies that have to insure all sorts of people including "moderate" drinkers.

Hit by the Bottle

A DRINKER is said to be hitting the bottle. Not at all. The bottle is hitting him. Liquor kills, in more ways than by paralyzing the health-cells in the blood. Time is the stuff life is made of; and how much time liquor kills, how many "lost weekends" it is causing this very week, only God and the devil know.

Liquor also creates poverty and poverty helps to shorten life. Liquor also makes a man reckless. The trade of prostitution would not be quite so flourishing without liquor. Many a serious disease is contracted under the effects of liquor.

As for violent and sudden deaths, read carefully next Monday's papers for the lists of the people killed on our American highways this beautiful May week-end. Read again after Decoration Day. Read carefully: how many of these dead people, if sober, might have lived?

Handy Jim's FIX-UP TIPS For Farm and Home

Modernization Can Be Fun

ROOM modernization can be a pleasure. With the right materials and sound planning, one can completely transform a room at a cost that is surprisingly low.

See how up-to-date and attractive the room is in the illustration. Its former plaster walls, badly cracked, were covered with rigid, tough panels of Masonite Preswood. This permanent dry wall material takes any desired finish. Available in panels four feet wide and in lengths to 12 feet, Preswood goes into place quickly with a minimum of fuss and bother.

Look at the neat, spacious wardrobe in the corner. There's another just like it at the other side of the room. Each was made of Preswood. Incidentally, this is a room for twins—with two of everything including even a two-seater desk.

A convenient sun-seat, the bed shelf for a small radio and books, the twin beds and the paneled ceiling are other features of this modernized room. It's really amazing what a transformation can be made with good materials, ordinary carpentry tools and some time, energy and ingenuity!

New Freight Rates In Effect May 2

Authorized Increase to Cost Consumers About One Cent For Each $10 Worth of Products

Increased railroad freight rates which went into effect May 2 will cost American consumers little more than $1 for each $1,000 worth of consumer products which they purchase, according to a detailed study made by rate experts for leading eastern railroads.

This increase was established for the eastern railroads on the basis of actual freight rates in carload lots between important points of origin for manufactured goods and typical distribution and sales centers.

A 95-cent pound of coffee shipped from Baltimore to Chicago now pays .04 of a cent additional freight or a total of three-fourths of one cent, while the 12 pound turkey shipped eastward from Chicago to New York City, and selling for $9.48 would pay four-fifths of a cent more freight, for a total of 14¢ cents.

The minute size of the increase when applied to consumer purchases was reflected even more graphically in actual figures of cost on some heavier manufactured goods.

How to Defeat Communism

By George Peck
George Peck is chairman of the Board of the National Labor-Management Foundation and Executive Editor of its official publication, Partners.

A letter has reached me from Thomas M. Peters of Bernardsville, New Jersey. It makes such good sense that I feel it should be passed on to the readers of this column. Here's what Mr. Peters wrote. From here on his letter is quoted:

Dear Mr. Peck:
Having read your column over a period of years, I wish to congratulate you and your associates on the splendid job you are doing to combat the inroads of Communism and its twin brother, Socialism, in America. Please keep up the good work. And now may I express my opinion as to how we can win the cold war with Communism?

In that battle we are usually on the defensive. This is no way to win a war, and we are not winning it. Since the main cause of the war is ideological it must be won ideologically if we are to have peace, and not just a cessation from active warfare. Yet so far we have failed to capitalize on our main advantage—our freedom.

Our people are free. They are physically free to move about within their own country, free to go to other countries; and they are spiritually free to think, to speak and to pray.

The Communists are not free. They cannot move about as they wish at home, they cannot possibly go abroad, and they must not think. They are prisoners of the state.

Our only hope of real peace is to bring home to the people of the Communist countries the fact that they are prisoners, while the non-Communist peoples are free. The only way to accomplish this is to say it over and over again, on the radio, in debate in the U. N., in letters to friends in satellite countries, even to the silly people in our own country who are Communists in sympathy or actuality.

Over and over we should say: "If your Communist government is so fine why do you have to keep your people locked up behind an iron curtain? Are you afraid to let them see the outside world for fear that if they know how much better off their neighbors are they will want changes at home? If not, then what are you afraid, that you dare not let your people see other countries? And if things in your country are as wonderful as you say they are why do you not let our people travel through your country to see what you have done? If it is really good our people would then demand it and your way of life would spread throughout the world."

"So long as you keep your people prisoners, so long as you dare not let them see how other people live, so long as you are afraid to let our people see your countries, just so long will we believe that it is because your way of life is a failure, and you dare not let your people know it, or the people whom you hope to conquer. In our country we have freedom because we are unafraid. Your people must be prisoners because you believe you have failed and are afraid to allow it to become known."

Let all of the free countries in 1952 take the offensive in the psychological warfare. Let us carry this message to the enslaved countries and bring doubt to the hearts of their people and fear to their masters which might, it's a long chance, bring concessions. But the free countries would be bound closer together by a common bond, and they would become increasingly jealous of preserving their freedom.

We can do it if we repeat this message over and over again.
—Thomas M. Peters

Girl Scout Camping News

A Field Day for Intermediate Girl Scouts will be held at Channa-Chalet on May 24. The girls will meet at 8:30 a.m. at the village hall and return at 4:30 p.m.

Each girl is to bring their nose-bag lunch, cup, sit-upon, permission slip and 85c to pay for transportation and their drink at noontime.

The registrations are due for the Intermediate and Brownie Girl Scouts for Day camp. The fee is $2.00 and camp will be held from June 23-27 at Van Horn woods. The girls will leave at 9:30 and return home by 3:30.

The council meeting will be held May 28 at 1:30 p.m. at the YMCA at Joliet. Every registered adult is a member of the council so try to have Frankfort the best percentage attendance at the meeting. Miss Eleanor Schmitt, regional advisor to Will county Girl Scout Council, Inc. will be the speaker.

Registrations are now being accepted for established camping at Channa Chalet for either one or both weeks of Aug. 3-9 and Aug. 10-16. A $5 registration fee must accompany the registration card. Any Intermediate Girl Scout interested may contact their leader.

Camping, whether it is day camp or established camp, is important in Girl Scouting. It helps to teach them ways of getting along with people. They will be eating, sleeping, playing and working with other campers for a period of several days. They must learn to enjoy responsibilities whether it be cooking, fire-building or dish washing, besides enjoying the fun of hiking, dancing, sports and games, camp craft, nature, dramatics, music, swimming and boating.

Help your daughter make her plans for one or both camps this year.

"Help, my baby's drowning!"

Lee Wilson was easing his Illinois Bell truck along a country road near Mazon on a routine telephone mission when he saw a woman waving frantically. He braked at the roadside. A farmhouse was nearby.

"Hurry," she cried, "my baby's drowning. He's fallen into the cistern!"

Wilson raced to the cistern. The unconscious child lay in about 3 feet of water. The well was some 10 feet deep.

He moved fast—back to his truck for his ladder, back again to the cistern to bring out the boy. Immediately, he began artificial respiration.

A doctor, called by the child's mother, arrived a few minutes later. He told Wilson to continue the respiration. Soon normal breathing returned. As the doctor said—"knowledge of first aid and calmness in a tense situation" saved a life.

Recently, Lee Wilson was awarded the Theodore N. Vail Medal. Since 1920, this medal has been presented to telephone men and women for heroic acts of public service.

It may have been luck that Lee Wilson happened by in an emergency, but luck didn't account for his knowledge of artificial respiration. Nearly all Illinois Bell telephone installers, repairmen and linemen receive first aid training. And all operators receive specialized training in the handling of emergency calls.

Miss Service Representative tells How you can help speed an emergency call "Your telephone operator is trained to handle emergency calls. She knows how to put them through fast. However, she can put them through even faster with a little help.

"For example, make a complete list of important telephone numbers now—fire, police, doctors, hospitals, etc.—and put it next to your telephone.

"If you can't call by number, follow these simple steps:

1. "Ask the operator for police, fire, doctor, ambulance, etc.
2. "Give your telephone number and address.

"Your telephone number and address are very important. They tell the operator where you are. If she has to search for them, valuable time is lost.

"Remember, in any emergency, your operator is always ready to try to summon help as fast as possible."

Teamwork of Lime and Fertilizer Builds Pasture, Ups Legume-Grass Yields 5-Fold

Milk and meat production per acre are boosted when pasture improvement program is based on a high soil fertility level.

NO ONE pasture program is tailor-made for every farm. But any good pasture program must be based on a high level of soil fertility.
That was the statement of Dr. R. Dodd, Ohio State University extension agronomist, in summarizing the results of a pasture survey of 28 states, sponsored by the University and the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.
"The best pasture," he said, "is the one that best suits the particular situation and makes the farmer the most money."
Typical of how Midwestern farmers are building profits and improving soil fertility via the grassland route, is the experience of Clarence Kaiser, Eckert, Ind., according to Dr. Dodd. When Kaiser first limed and fertilized, he got 5 times more legumes and grass than formerly. Now he adds 200 to 300 pounds per acre of 0-20-20 yearly to all his sod land. He has kept 5 fields of Ladino clover and grass in high production for 5 to 10 years through his yearly fertilizer treatment and grazing management. Kaiser and his son are making a good living on 78 acres.

Hay yields of 3 tons per acre, 70 to 80 bushels of corn and 60 to 70 bushels of oats are being produced on Walter Virtue's farm near Hanover, Ill., through a grassland improvement program. This includes using 150 pounds per acre of 3-12-12 at corn planting time and about 150 pounds of superphosphate in the grain seedling in which new meadow is being established.
Thirty-five acres are yielding more income than most 150-acre farms for W. M. Cornwall, Franklin, Ky. He uses 500 to 1,000 pounds of fertilizer per acre annually. He is producing 10,000 pounds of milk a month on intensively fertilized pasture that formerly was wornout land.

Relative of Mokena And Tinley People Explosion Victim

Mrs. John Martin of Mokena received word Tuesday evening of the tragic death of her nephew (Pete) Elmer Martz in Chicago Heights that day.
Mr. Martz, who has been employed by the Victor Chemical works for the past 28 years as a pipe fitter, was dismantling some pipe at the plant, with the help of an assistant Tuesday morning. Suddenly there was an explosion, apparently coming from the pipe which it is thought must have contained phosphorus. The two men were caught in the flames. Mr. Martz's entire body was burned. Both were removed to St. James hospital in Chicago Heights where Mr. Martz died about 5 o'clock that afternoon.
Since the death of Mrs. Martz's mother, Mrs. William Hartwig, last summer, the Martz's have lived with her father, who is in poor health.
Surviving are his wife Marie son William, his mother, Mrs. Mary Martz and sister Mrs. Mable Smith all of Chicago Heights.
The body was removed to the West End funeral home where friends called Wednesday night. The inquest was held Wednesday morning. Funeral services will be held in the funeral home Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.
Mr. and Mrs. Martz are quite well known in Mokena and Tinley Park where they frequently visit with relatives and friends.

More Corn Per Acre on Midwest Farms Calls For Better Soil Care Plus Plant Food Use

MORE corn per acre—rather than just more acres in corn—is what is needed on many Midwestern farms this year, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee, in a statement issued here.
With the lid off on 1951 corn acreage allotments and prospects of a "feed squeeze" ahead, the need for more efficient soil management methods to build higher corn yields per acre is more critical than ever, says the committee.
Agronomists at Midwestern agricultural colleges are advising farmers to make long range plans now for high crop yields. They point out that the present international emergency may last a long time. And whether there is a hot or cold war, we will steadily need more food in the years ahead.
"The secret of getting and maintaining high corn yields per acre," says the committee's statement, "lies not only in providing a well balanced supply of nutrients, but in giving the soil a backlog of plant food and organic matter on which crops can draw."
"The use of lime and a complete fertilizer containing nitrogen, phosphate and potash is of top importance. Vital, too, is a rotation that centers around deep-rooted legumes such as alfalfa and sweet clover. Well-fertilized legumes, reinforced by manure and crop residues will add tons of valuable organic matter to the soil. This organic matter improves soil tilth, structure and drainage. It conditions the soil to make more efficient use of fertilizer and to produce more bushels of corn per acre.

"Important, too, in getting top corn yields is a planting rate that provides a big enough stalk population to take advantage of the soil's improved fertility. Planting more stalks per acre may cut the size of the ears, but it will increase yields by giving you more ears."

The committee points out that a complete starter fertilizer applied in the row at planting time will get your corn off to a fast, healthy start. It will help speed up maturity and avoid the danger of damage to the corn crop from early autumn frosts.

K. T. Keller Awarded Highest Masonic Medal

K. T. Keller, Chairman of the Board of Chrysler Corporation and Director of Guided Missiles for the Department of Defense, has been awarded the highest honorary decoration of the Masonic Order's Scottish Rite, the Gougas Medal, for "notably distinguished service in the cause of Freemasonry, humanity and country."

Since its creation in 1938, the Gougas Medal has been awarded to only three other Freemasons including the late King Gustav V of Sweden for "outstanding service in connection with the International Red Cross," President Harry S. Truman in recognition of his work during World War II as head of the Truman Committee, and Dr. Melvin M. Johnson, Sovereign Supreme Commander of the Masonic Order's Supreme Council, for his contributions in the field of mental hygiene and to Masonry.
Mr. Keller, who was coroneted a 33° Mason in 1942, is the first industrialist to be awarded the Gougas Medal. He was honored not only for his well-known achievements in industry, but also for his outstanding service to the country in many capacities during both war and peace.
